Palm of the Month

PICCABEEN PALM (ARCHONTOPHOENIX CUNNINGHAMIANA)

The considerably cold-hardy Piccabeen Palm features long, sweeping palm fronds atop a smooth, gray trunk and a parrot-green crown shaft. Although it's considered moderately drought-tolerant once established, a Piccabeen will also thrive with regular watering. The aging brown fronds of this East Australian native palm fall off without being trimmed which reduces the need for maintenance. You'll find Piccabeen Palms on McIntosh Road and Central Sarasota Parkway
