Master Association Holiday Closure

The Master Association office will be closed on Monday, February 16th for the Presidents Day holiday. We will reopen at 8am on Tuesday, February 17th.

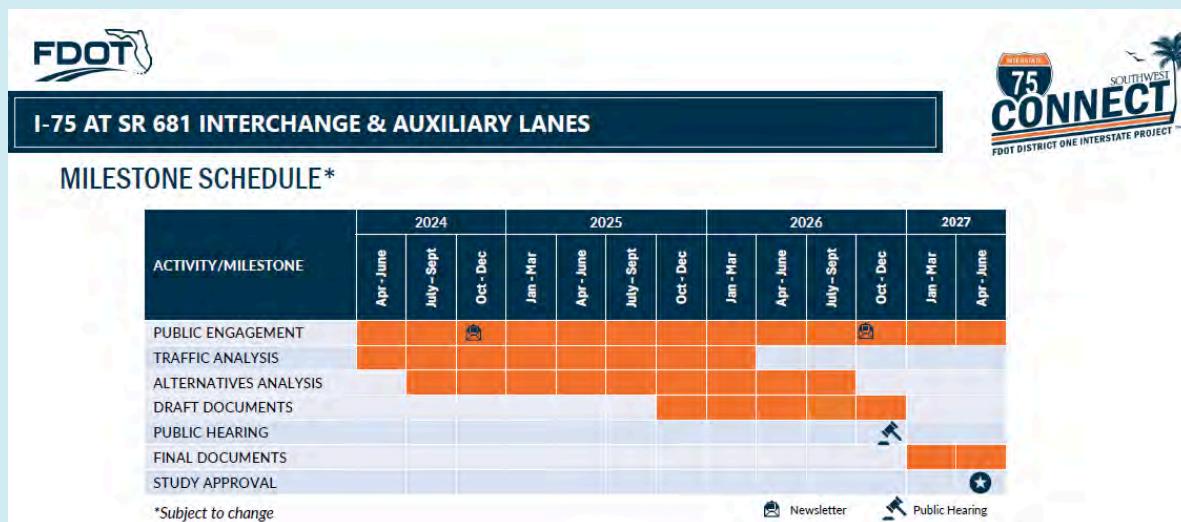

I-75 / SR681 Interchange (Project 454095-1) Sound Wall Evaluation

On January 21, 2026, the Palmer Ranch Master Association received the following project 454095-1 update and schedule from the Project Manager at the Florida Department of Transportation (FDOT):

The I-75 project is still in the Project Development and Environment (PD&E) phase, which includes a noise assessment. This study will help us (FDOT) determine whether noise barriers, such as sound walls, are feasible and effective options for nearby communities. While specific barrier locations have not been confirmed yet, the study's results will guide these decisions. The Florida Department of Transportation (FDOT) follows established, statewide policies for evaluating traffic noise and deciding on sound wall placement, ensuring a consistent approach across Florida.

The noise study has not been conducted yet. Once it is complete, a Noise Study Report will be available for public review, with findings presented at a public hearing in fall 2026. The public hearing will give residents the opportunity to review the findings of the project's alternatives, ask questions, and provide feedback.

We will be sure to notify the residents of Palmer Ranch once a date for the public hearing is secured. For now, please check below for updates and more information on our project website: <https://www.swflinterstates.com/i75-north-corridor/454095-1/>.

Sarasota County Libraries launches “Culture Pass” to enhance access to local arts and culture

Sarasota County Libraries and Historical Resources has launched “Culture Pass,” a new initiative that provides free or discounted access to local theaters and museums for adult residents with a library card.

Library patrons can reserve a Culture Pass online by using their library card and pin number. Current Culture Pass venues include Asolo Repertory Theatre, the Bishop Museum of Science and Nature, Urbanite Theatre, Big Cat Habitat, Imagine Museum, the Museum of Fine Arts and more. New partners will be added in the future. Click Here for a complete list of offerings.

Most participating venues allow one pass per year, per patron. Patrons may also only have one active pass at a time. Passes may be digital or printable, depending on the venue, and typically must be redeemed in advance for ticketed performances.

Sandhill Crane Colt Season

As we prepare for the Sandhill Crane Colt season, I came across this post from the Sarasota Downtown Facebook page and thought it would be very appropriate to post for Palmer Ranch and surrounding communities.

“Cuteness overload. Sandhill Cranes are one of Sarasota’s most charming neighbors. These elegant, slate-gray birds with their bright red crowns have become unofficial mascots of the region, and if you’ve ever had to pause your car while a family of cranes takes their sweet time crossing the road, you know exactly why locals adore them.

Sandhill Cranes thrive in Sarasota’s mix of wetlands, golf courses, retention ponds, and open fields. They’re surprisingly comfortable around people, often strolling through yards or foraging near sidewalks with calm confidence that suggests they know they’re protected—and they are! Florida’s resident Sandhill Cranes are a state-designated threatened species, so giving them space is more than courtesy; it’s the law.

Spring brings one of Sarasota's sweetest Sandhill moments: the arrival of baby Sandhill Cranes, known as colts. These fuzzy, golden-brown chicks look almost too adorable to be real. They're up and walking within hours of hatching, keeping pace with their parents on those long, spindly legs. You'll often see a family of three or four wandering together—two devoted adults and their curious, fluffy youngsters. Sandhill Cranes are more than beautiful birds; they're a reminder of the wild Florida that still thrives alongside our neighborhoods. If you spot a crane family, especially with colts in tow, admire them from a respectable distance. Never feed them and always give them the right of way—trust me, they'll take it anyway".

Please - obey the speed limits on our roadways while the colts are busy keeping up with mommy and daddy!
